

Call for research positions in Algebra at the Department of Mathematics and Statistics, Masaryk University

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics at Masaryk University invites applications for research positions commencing during the second half of the year 2019 at a date depending on mutual agreement.

The positions are initially for one year with a possibility of extension.

Applications will be considered in the area of algebra, with an emphasis on category theory.

The candidates must be recent PhD's and should submit a letter of application accompanied by a CV, list of publications and an outline of their research project to Martin Kolář (mkolar@math.muni.cz) not later than April 30, 2019.

They should also arrange for at least 2 letters of recommendation (one can be from a Czech mathematician) to be mailed directly to mkolar@math.muni.cz before April 30, 2019.

The successful applicants will be notified as soon as possible but not later than May 31, 2019.
