

Call for research positions at the Department of Mathematics and Statistics, Masaryk University

The Department of Mathematics and Statistics at Masaryk University invites applications for research positions commencing during the year 2020 at the date depending on mutual agreement.

The positions are initially for one or two years with a possibility of extension. One of the positions is within a more challenging/demanding project, see the additional conditions at <https://www.muni.cz/en/about-us/careers/vacancies/52631>.

Applications will be considered in the areas of Mathematical Analysis, Algebra, Geometry, Numerical Mathematics and Statistics.

The candidates must be recent PhD's and should submit a letter of application accompanied by a CV, list of publications and an outline of their research project to Jan Slovák (slovak@muni.cz) not later than February 29, 2020.

They should also arrange for at least 2 letters of recommendation (one can be from a Czech mathematician) to be mailed directly to slovak@muni.cz before February 29, 2020.

The successful applicants will be notified as soon as possible but not later than March 31, 2020.
